The current board is to be commended for requiring OneCare salary details and standards related to performance and outcome measures. For more than a decade, the Green mountain care board has been unwilling or unable to set a regulatory standard that would result in quality services, accessibility and cost controls.

The reluctance or refusal for Vermont's accountable care organization to share relevant in vital information, especially on administrative costs, has reflected the cavalier attitude of the UVM health Network since the Green mountain care board began work in 2011. Your appropriate and forceful action by subpoenaing OneCare is a step in the right direction.

OneCare's lack of transparency reflects poorly on the states accountable care organization. To date, there is little evidence that this experiment has been effective in improving health care in Vermont.

The Green Mountain Care Board was given strong regulatory powers. It is uplifting to finally see the Board active and engaged in a professional manner.
