VERMONT MEDICAL SOCIETY PHYSICIAN AND PA SURVEY

RESULTS FROM JULY 2022 SURVEY SHOW THE HIGH'S & LOW'S OF PRACTICING MEDICINE

"I LOVE my job. I have wonderful patients. They are appreciative and we have built positive relationships in my 5 years of practice."

"Taking very high level care of patients and teaching students, residents, and fellows"

"The overall morale of physicians is as low as I have ever seen it."

"I don’t have time to just be human."

Out of 292 respondents the survey results show Vermont clinicians remain committed to their patients, but many are burned out from an unsustainable workload, exacerbated by administrative burdens and overbearing EMRs.

"Shortage of healthcare personnel, both practitioners (physicians, PAs NPs) as well as support staff. We are stretched to the limit. My partner is retiring in June 2023 and I don’t know if I am going to be able replace her. And we are already short two [advanced practitioners]: one retired and the other had to move out of the area for family reasons. This is the perfect storm of The Great Resignation due to the pandemic combined with the aging of primary care physicians retiring and no one coming up from behind to replace them. This a tsunami that will overwhelm our state in the next few years, and overwhelming my practice right now."

"I am a first year medical student looking at family practice. I am most concerned about being able to spend meaningful time with patients and being limited by the policies of insurance companies and hospitals that require lots of paperwork and short visit times."

"Too many work hours. Too much administrative work after a 50 hour clinical week. I am a director of a clinical service and have no administrative time. All I do is put out fires and not improve anything."

"The deluge of EMR messages that require 100's of decisions daily, responses to staff and patients in an often untimely manner, and too many requests for opinions about medical issues. This has taken on a life of its own, and is not sustainable, and is a poor model for delivering care despite the fact that it seems benign enough."
